Our Sabbatical Minister

Dear Friends,

Hello, I hope you are not crumpling in the summer heat!

Subject: Politics and church: On July 19, we had a free-wheeling political discussion at church. Nine people attended. It was good to talk and vent and learn others' perspectives, and even some ideas about ways we could make a difference.

If there is demand, I'd be glad to do it again. If you'd be interested in attending a repeat, here is a short survey for you.

Among the few people I talked to in planning this discussion, I heard words of caution that I would like to address:

- "Is it okay to do that at church?"
  - ◆ Yes, it is okay to talk about political matters at church. The IRS ruling says, in part: "the ban by Congress is on political campaign activity regarding a candidate; churches ... can engage in a limited amount of lobbying (including ballot measures) and advocate for or against issues that are in the political arena..." So discussions and the like are fine.
- "Your invitation is addressed to liberals, but we have one or two Republicans at church. What if they feel left out?"
  - ◆ It is okay to describe a meeting as designed for a certain audience. It's okay to attend any gathering at church unless it is explicitly for a specific audience and denoted as a closed group for that purpose.
  - ◆ Feeling left out every now and then is a valuable spiritual experience and can help us empathize with those who are marginalized by our society.
  - ◆ I'd be more than happy to help any members create opportunities to meet with like-minded folks within the church community.
- "Shouldn't this be more structured? What product do we want?"
  - ◆ No product was desired, except the chance to experience the freedom of speaking freely with like-minded people about a topic of mutual interest. This is so rare in our society, and a very valuable thing for the church to provide. In my humble opinion.

As always, your input and commentary is warmly welcomed. I'm having a great time working with this fabulous congregation. I'm available by appointment during the week and am happy to converse confidentially with you about any questions of belief, life direction, or meaning that are arising for you. Just shoot me an email or leave a phone message with Laurie in the office.

Wishing you a blissful August,
Rev. Amanda Aikman, Sabbatical Minister

President's Message

Dear friends,

Our sabbatical six months had barely begun the last time I wrote my message for SOUNDINGS. Now we're well into it, and are we having a wealth of wonderful services! From Reverend Amanda Aikman's always thought-provoking and engaging sermons to the extraordinary high-quality sermons given by our own members, we adults are so lucky to have something special to look forward to each Sunday.

And the imaginative activities for our children, from making pillow and blanket forts to writing letters to ailing members, show that Chris Pollina and his volunteer teachers are hard at work making sure summer is both fun and full of learning for our religious exploration program.

The highlight of the Board's July meeting was a thorough discussion of the landscaping challenges ahead of us as we turn raw dirt around the Davis Building into beautiful, ecologically sensitive, and easy-to-maintain grounds. We learned how much work a small, dedicated crew (including Bruce and Kristen Hunt, Laura Westbrook, David Duke, Rick Wilson, and Carolyn Threadgill) has already been doing to control weeds and erosion.

We also had a presentation by Justin Martin, whose family has been attending SUUC for over a year, and whose profession is landscape architecture. Justin has created an exciting landscape design that the Board voted to adopt. See what it looks like here: plan view and perspective sketch.

Plenty of help will be needed as the Building and Grounds committee works over the next few years to realize the vision embedded in this design. When the word goes out for participation in work parties, please answer the call, whether you provide the labor or bring treats to those who are getting their hands dirty.

Director of Religious Exploration

Hello everyone. As our all-ages summer program passes the halfway point and we are just a few weeks from the beginning of a new school year, my thoughts have begun turning more and more to the months ahead. While the chance to be around other kids much older and younger than oneself provides children with great opportunities to learn from and teach each other and to expand their peer groups at church, a lot of the closest bonds are forged within the classes that take place during the school year which span three years of age instead of nine. This year's curricula for the different children's classes are as follows:

- Nursery/Preschool--Chalice Children: This class works primarily with the same curriculum each year as children of this age especially derive a lot from hearing stories repeated and from the sense of grounding that comes from doing the same activities and celebrating the same rituals from year to year. Chalice Children introduces children to the concept of church--what people do at church, what we have in common, why it's important, and so on--as well as exploring the early "gateways" to feelings of awe and mystery such as the stars and the moon, our own shadow, dreams, and more. Also, I'm hoping to create more of a space for the older kids to do these activities without having to accommodate very young children as it's a wide spread of ages and developmental abilities. If you'd be interested in spending 15-30 minutes hanging out with a baby or two on some Sundays, let me know!
- Kindergarten-2nd--Spirit Play "Plus": We'll continue to offer an array of stories that explain what our seven principles and six sources are and why they are important to us. As this class is very heavy on the story-telling end of things, we'll continue having a few special days throughout the year (the "Plus" in "Spirit Play Plus") to shake up the regular class routine. On these days, kids will spend the entire day engaged in special activities that help them review and integrate the stories they've heard and live out the principles.
- 3rd-5th--Windows and Mirrors: The Windows and Mirrors curriculum is the first serious venture in our RE program into exploring what each of us believe and perceive (the "mirror" part of the metaphor) and what other people's beliefs and experiences are like ("windows" into other people's lives/minds). It is easy to say we affirm diversity, but sometimes when the rubber hits the road, it's difficult to walk the walk --that's what this class is all about!
- 6th-8th--D'Oh God and The Fifth Dimension: In these curricula, middle school youth will spend each Sunday watching an episode of either The Simpsons or The Twilight Zone which has themes relating to ethics, spirituality, or politics...which is really quite a lot of them! After the episode, youth will talk about how the themes explored relate to our faith, and everyone's own current life experiences.
- High School Youth Group: Youth in grades 9-12 will be spending approximately three Sundays a month exploring spiritual practices, visiting other religious services, testing out the seven principles for durability and usefulness, working to make their mark on the world and generally having fun! 9th-10th graders are eligible for the Coming of Age program which will run on some select Sunday mornings during the year - this very important program involves individual reflection, working in small groups, service to the church with an adult partner, writing a statement of their own beliefs to be presented at a Sunday morning worship, an overnight retreat, group bonding, and more information than I can fit in the rest of my column space! Keep an ear out about this program--you'll be hearing more about it soon!

Last, a quick reminder of two upcoming events:

Sunday, September 9, noon-1:30 p.m.--Orientation to Religious Exploration: This is a regularly-offered gathering primarily aimed at families who are new to our church in which I and several congregants talk about the goals and vision for our RE program, the scope of what we offer at various ages, and ways you can encourage your child's spiritual development both inside and outside of our church's walls. Childcare offered; RSVPs greatly appreciated!

Friday, October 12, 6-8 p.m.--Video Game Party! After having a chance to vote on ideas which were submitted through the Idea Box, the kids have spoken, and they have said: video games are fun! =) Save the date and if you can help out with this night, let me know--should be a crazy fun time!

Side by Side...a column from Mental Health & Recovery Ministries

This month's column will continue our introduction to the 12 Steps. Step Eight states: Made a list of all persons we had harmed, and became willing to make amends to them all.

Each Step builds upon the others. In Step 7 we humbly ask our Higher Power to remove our shortcomings. This process moved my heart. At times I felt powerless. Sometimes I could see how my thinking about certain people lacked compassion. I had to process a lot of feelings along the way. I asked my Higher Power to remove this shortcoming and it kept coming up. Then, one day, I noticed I hadn't judged anyone, all day!! It was such a thrill to see my progress. For a lot of people in recovery, humbly asking for something is new. We don't know everything and we're not in charge of everything. Humility, my sponsor told me, was the loving acceptance of reality.

In Step 8 I had to review my inventory and write that list. I also had to prepare my heart to be ready to make amends to every person I had harmed. Having just gone through Step 7, I was well aware how hard it was to be a human. My sponsor reminded me that I needed to be on that list as well. Making amends to myself for the harm I've done to myself is a daily process. Today, I pay attention to how I feel, speak compassionately to myself, and give myself good care. A living amends, as it were! I'm still working through my list of people I have harmed and learning to see my part. I'm making progress and that is my goal! Progress, not perfection.

If there is any way that we can be supportive of you and your family please reach out to us, the co-chairs of the Mental Health & Recovery Ministry team here at Shoreline UU, Chris Poole at 206-542-9271 or Rev. Barbara Cornell at uubcornell@gmail.com.

The support group for Family and Friends of those with a lived experience of mental illness for August will be held in the conference room at church on the fourth Monday, August 27, 2018 from 6:30 to 8 p.m. There is a place for you to join us!

Minutes of the Board of Trustees Meeting, 7-9 p.m., July 3, 2018

Attending: Judi Kalitzki, Ryan Dunne, Catherine Crain, Dana Doerksen, Homer Henderson, Juel Erickson, and Rev. Amanda. Absent: Bill Hayes.

The meeting opened at 7:05 p.m.

The minutes of the June 5, 2018 meeting were unanimously approved.

New Business

- Landscaping. Visitors were Bruce Hunt, Justin Martin, David Duke and Laura Westbrook. We began by discussing goals for the landscaping for the new building. These goals include:
  - ◆ Habitat value/ecological service
  - ◆ Remain a 'backyard sanctuary'
  - ◆ Picnic and gathering space
  - ◆ Accessible to all
  - ◆ Space for ceremony/meditation/memorial garden
  - ◆ Maintainable/low maintenance--keep it organic
  - ◆ Beautiful
  - ◆ Edible/productive (for whom and who will maintain?)

Bruce Hunt stated that there is now topsoil on the north and west sides of the building. There is mulch placed on some beds and wood chips spread on the slopes to secure the soil from erosion. He presented a plan laying out where additional mulch and grass could be planted along with 3 options for planting grass on the flat parts of the site with costs. He also indicated alternative seed mixtures to standard grass. Irrigation systems have been installed for all the areas. The south fence line presents a problem because the site prep for the new building caused soil to be piled up along the fence up to 3 feet deep. The fence is on our property and is our problem.

Justin Martin presented a plan which will require some earth moving and retaining wall(s). It would satisfy the need for accessibility by providing a gently sloped path up to the playground level and broaden the flat area below, allowing more room for gatherings. The Board discussed how to proceed. We decided that Justin Martin's plan satisfies most of the goals that were articulated for the landscaping and agreed that his design should be the guiding vision for our landscaping project. The Board will ask the Building and Grounds group to work with Justin to come up with a phased plan, likely over several years, and estimated costs for the first phase this year and the second phase for 2019.

- Laurie Radin handed out new Board notebooks to the new members of the Board and updates to the current members. These updates included a new directory and updated Policies and Bylaws.
- Rick Wilson presented an issue for the Board to decide. At our April fundraiser, we said that the Raise-the-Paddle auction returns would go for the new building and RE. We raised $2350 at that event and need to decide how it gets allocated. The Board agreed that $1175 would be allocated each to RE and to Building and Grounds, for unbudgeted items and each committee needs to advertise what they will spend it on and can share if they don't need all $1175.

- The Board approved a motion to add Sue Leisy as a member of the Committee on Ministry. That committee is still looking for 2 more members.
- Ryan presented a sign for the Davis Building, to be fixed to the outside of the building, facing the Dome. Two other signs will be made in the same style, one in Threadgill Hall, above the main entry to the hall, and a plaque in the Hall outlining the Davis bequest.
- Ryan presented the financial report. He's still figuring out the details with Paul's help. Earl Davis has agreed to help on the Stewardship Committee. Ryan sent an email out to all committees about their budget requests for the next year. They are due in August.
- The Music Committee has requested an additional $265 be added to their budget for piano tuning. They now have 2 pianos, one in each building, and had only budgeted for one. The Board approved this request.

Thank you notes were written to Bruce and Kristen Hunt for their yard work and spreading wood chips, also to Carolyn Threadgill, Rick Wilson and Laura Westbrook for spreading wood chips, to Ryan Dunn for working on the new Davis Building sign and to Bob Beekman for cleaning the Dome gutters.

Meeting adjourned shortly after 9 p.m.

Are You Ready to Branch Out?

SUUC is like a growing tree, spreading its branches. Perhaps you haven't gotten to know the whole tree. Beginning on September 30 you will have an opportunity to explore the various and sundry branches such as these: Appreciating Elderhood, Evening Book Group, Congregational Life Committee, Bridge Group, Greensong, Readers Theater, Worship Planning, Men's Group, and many more.

We're calling this event "Branching Out." Starting on September 30 and several Sundays in October these various branches will be available in the six classrooms in the Davis Building after worship. You can get some coffee and then visit any room that interests you (where there will be eats) and chat with folks who are active in each branch.

If you would like your branch to be among those scheduled in this series, please contact us. Or perhaps you would like to start a new branch? If so, this is an opportunity to recruit others who are interested. You can speak to any member of the Task Force for Branching Out: Bill King, Juel Erickson, Peggy Williams Scott, Rick Wilson, Krista Tenney. Or you can just email Bill at bking@western.edu with the name of a contact person. We will provide some guidelines for you.

Are you ready to go out on a limb?

Community Announcements

Pastoral Care During Sabbatical

Reverend Carmen Ten Eyck-McDowell will be the pastoral care lead for the month of August. She will collect needs and distribute to the appropriate individuals. Some needs will go to our Neighborhood Groups, some to the Lay Pastoral Care Team, and some will be responded to by Rev. Carmen directly. You can reach her at rev.carmen.mcdowell@gmail.com or 425-765-9064. If you have any questions, you can also contact Laurie Radin, Church Administrator, in the office at 206-363-7994 or office@shorelineuu.org and she will direct the information to the minister on call.

Save the Date

The memorial service for Michael McMullin will be held at 2 p.m. on August 11, 2018 at Shoreline UU Church. Please join us in celebrating his life.

Musings on August Sunday Services

The sunny and frankly summery month of August is here and we at SUUC have four spectacular services.

8/5/18: Features Shoreline UU Men's Group. The Men's Group gathers monthly over breakfast for conversation and fellowship and to share about and learn from each other as we share our stories and life's journey. On August 5, the group will host the Sunday morning worship service. Special music will be presented, thought provoking readings will be offered, and men will share the some of the wisdom learned on their Spiritual Journey. Come celebrate with us!

8/12/18: Rev. Amanda will preach on the rewards and perils of risk taking. She will explore what can spur us to try taking a risk. Titled "Dancing on the Brink," anyone living and curious about enhancing life will benefit by attending.

8/19/18: Presented by the SUUC Women's Circle, our worship service will focus on the theme of "Letting Go and Moving Forward." Perhaps it is a physical object, a significant relationship, an opinion, or a dream. At various points in our lives, we are all challenged with knowing when, why, and how to release ourselves from that which no longer serves us. Speakers include church members Marilyn Thompson, Shelley Smith, and Cynthia Bagley. Patty Zeitlin will be sharing one of her original songs. Please come join us as we reflect together on this common challenge.

8/26/18: Wrapping up August, Rev. Amanda addresses "Moments Are What We Have." Making the most of all things small and grand. What else is there.

Many thanks and appreciation to Karen Thompson for chancel flowers during the month of August.

On Saturday, August 25, from 9 a.m. until noon, the Welcome Team is sponsoring an orientation gathering, led by April Frazier. We will go through some UU history, turn to a focus on what happens here at SUUC, and have a good time meeting other new seekers. We'll share stories about how we arrived here and about what kind of relationships we would like out of our community. Come join this lively discussion! We'll have treats and child care is available, if requested. Curious? Contact Rick Wilson at 206-799-3054 or rickwilson7863@msn.com.

Plate Share

Our next Plate Share Sunday will be August 12. We will recognize Seattle's Downtown Emergency Service Center, which provides effective and affordable solutions to homelessness for our community's most vulnerable men and women.

Change in Schedule for Game Night

The weekly games night will not meet the first week of August, and starting August 8, weekly game night will be Wednesdays, 5-7 p.m. in Threadgill Hall. Please contact Jerome Lutge for more info, jrlutge@gmail.com or 206-898-2050.

All ages, all levels of musical expertise, are invited to participate. We'll meet at 9:15 on Sunday morning, August 26, learn two songs by ear (no need to read music!) and sing them for the Sunday service. Please let Susan Storer Clark know if you plan to come: songsue30@gmail.com, or 206-801-7027. If you decide to come and sing without planning it, that's fine, too.

SUUC Evening Book Group Meeting August 1 "The owl of Minerva flies at dusk."

The Evening Book Group (aka "The Owls of Minerva") will meet on Wednesday, August 1, from 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. in Threadgill Hall, the social hall of our new Davis Building. The book for this meeting will be The Undoing Project by Michael Lewis. The discussion will be led by Paul Borrmann.

The book for the following month's discussion, on September 5, will be Madame President: The Extraordinary Journey of Ellen Johnson Sirleaf by Helene Cooper, discussion to be led by Judith Kalitzki.

SUUC Women's Circle will meet 10 a.m. in Threadgill Hall on Saturday, August 4

Early arrivals at 9:30 to help with set-up will be most appreciated. Our program (in line with our mission of getting to know each other) is DOING OR BEING? It will be facilitated by Isis Charest. Hope to see you there! Please bring finger food to share.

Under-Used Resource?

Our church has a library of nearly 300 volumes. Imagine the possibilities for individual members, and for our various programs, from the resources of an up-to-date library. A work group to consider best uses for the church library is being headed up by choir member Chas Talbot, with the assistance of our Administrator, Laurie Radin, who is the de facto librarian.

If you'd like to participate, email or phone Chas: chas5@earthlink.net or 206-310-4873.

Reminder to Everyone about Locking Up and Turning off Lights

There have been a number of times recently that doors have been left unlocked or even wide open at night after people have left the church from meetings or Sunday church service. Please be aware that it is up to all of us to make note if you seem to be the last ones to leave the church and then lock all doors and turn off lights. If you are unsure if anyone else is around, it's better to do be safe. If you are unsure of how to lock the doors, just ask Laurie in the office.
